Andy Warhol effect

-Find a picture online or use one of the photos of yourself.

-Open the picture in Photoshop and crop the image to use just the face and area you want to keep.

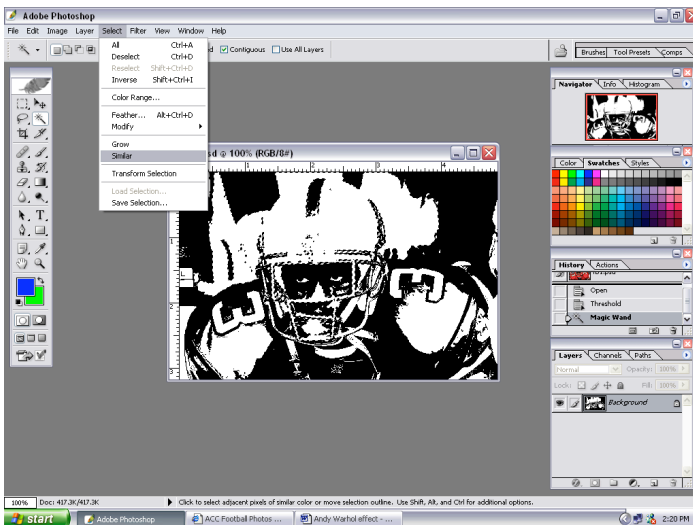

-Choose Image>Adjustments>Threshold.

-Then adjust the slider so as to see some detail in the image.

-Use the Magic Wand to select the WHITE area. Then from the top menus choose Select>Similar.
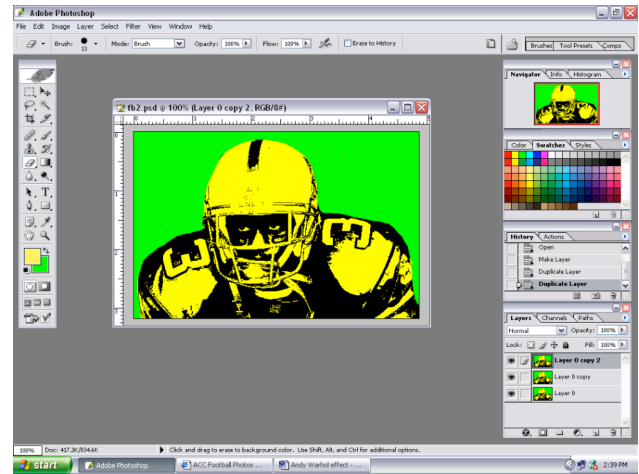

-Choose a color. Fill. Deselect.
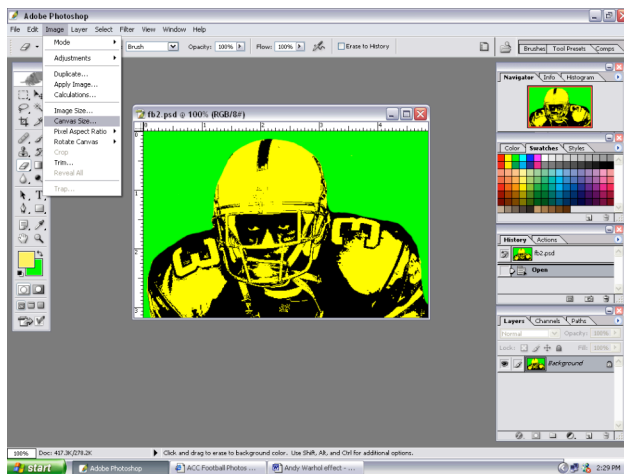

Andy Warhol effect continued

-Choose a background color.
 With the Eraser tool, paint out the background.

-Unlock the background layer and duplicate it.
 2 times.

-Once the image is nice and clean, to the top menus and choose Image>Canvas Size.

- We are only changing the Width.
  We want to make the Width 3 times the size,
  so type in 300 percent, and hit OK.

-Zoom out to see the entire canvas.

-Use the move tool to spread each layer out.
-Repeat the process to change the color of the other 2 layers. Label all layers.